3. UBICACIÓN EN EL PLAN FORMATIVO

3.1. Course description

Course readings, exercises and class preparation are very important. Sometimes, the instructor might only have enough time in class to go over the major conceptual and empirical issues, so it is extremely important for students to develop a full understanding of a motivational topic and to utilize it. You must supplement in-class discussion with knowledge gained from the assigned readings.

This strong emphasis on course projects reflects not only a desire to educate you about the psychological aspects of sport and exercise but also a commitment to help you apply your knowledge in meaningful and practical ways, whether you are a physical educator, coach, recreation specialist, athlete, or aspiring sport psychologist.

3.2. Course description

This course students can take as a freshmen is very important in order to get some background for the future as psychologist or physical education experts as well just a student interesting in Sport. The course will provide an overview of the field of sports psychology and exercise, which involves applying psychology topics to exercise, sports, competition and health. Topics will cover how sports psychologists work –at any level- with athletes and teams in motivation, concentration, resilient personalities, attention, decision making based on interbehavioral, cognitive and other important approaches in sports psychology. 6. METHODOLOGY AND SOURCES

This is a reading course, a class for discussion, presentations and more than just a classical class where the professor has 100% of the responsibility. So that means that you should expect an appropriate amount of reading each week. It's an old saying, but nevertheless true, that you'll get out of this course just what you put into it. As an American professor said of the syllabus, "In order to really develop a practical understanding of sport psychology from this course, you must complete all of the weekly readings and homework assignments".

- a) Professor presentations about different topics listed in the syllabus.
- b) Case studies to complete at home and bring to class as part of a group discussion in class.
- c) Student presentations.
- d) Exercises based on the book American Coaching Effectiveness Program. Level 2. Will be provided by the professor as a PDF.
- e) Quizzes (just to be sure you are working)
- f) Midterm
- g) Final exam

7. EVALUATION

Course Requirements and Grading

Academic Dishonesty

Academic integrity is a guiding principle for all academic activity at Pablo de Olavide University. Cheating on exams and plagiarism (which includes copying from the internet) are clear violations of academic honesty. A student is guilty of plagiarism when he or she presents another person's intellectual property as his or her own. The penalty for plagiarism and cheating is a failing grade for the assignment/exam and a failing grade for the course. Avoid plagiarism by citing sources properly (using footnotes or endnotes and a bibliography).
