3. ACADEMIC CONTEXT

3.1. Course Description and Objectives

The most relevant perspectives and approaches which attempt to explain the nature, structure and functioning of organizations. As part of the Organisational Theory, we will study organizational design, and leadership roles which creates and transforms the organizational structure of an organization.

This course aims to provide a general understanding of organizational theory.

There will be three different objectives to be considered:

Firstly: Learning about the most relevant organizational theories and understanding the different perspectives adopt to analyse business phenomena.

Secondly: Learning about the organizational design function, design parameters, contextual factors and basic organizational models.

Finally: Learning how to diagnose organizational problems and giving possible solutions.

3.2. Contribution to the Training Plan

The study of the most relevant theories that were made in the twentieth century in order to understand the function of organizations, which will provide a multidisciplinary view of business phenomena.

In addition, we will study "organizational design" as one of the functions that make up the Management Process, which will be discussed in detail in the second year. This will be the students' first step into the issues related to Business Administration and Management.

3.3. Recommendations or Prerequisites

There are no special requirements. However, it is recommended to have previously studied Introduction to Business Management.
