

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic year 2014-2015

1. COURSE DESCRIPTION

Degree:	GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY
Double Degree:
Course:	CLASSICAL BACKGROUNDS TO EUROPEAN CULTURE
Module:	CULTURE
Department:	PHILOLOGY AND TRANSLATION
Academic Year:	2014-2015
Term:	1
Total Credits:	6 ECTS
Year:	2
Type of Course:	COMPULSORY
Course Language:	ENGLISH

Teaching model:	B1
a. General/background:		60
b. Theory-into-practice/developmental knowledge-building		40
c. Guided Academic Activities:

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic year 2014-2015

2. TEACHING TEAM INFORMATION

2.1. Course coordinator ROSARIO MORENO SOLDEVILA

2.2. Teachers
Name:	ROSARIO MORENO SOLDEVILA
Faculty:	HUMANITIES
Department:	PHILOLOGY AND TRANSLATION
Academic Area:	LATIN PHILOLOGY
Position:	SENIOR LECTURER
Office hours:	To be announced
Office No.:	2-4-18
E-mail:	rmorsol@upo.es
Tel.:	954349820 (preferably contact the teacher by e-mail or through Blackboard Learn)

3. ACADEMIC CONTEXT

3.1. Course Description and Objectives

The aim of this course is to survey the most relevant aspects of Greek and Roman culture, as one of the bases of European culture, mainly—but not exclusively—through the reading and analysis of literary texts.

3.2. Contribution to the Training Plan

Placed in the second year of the Degree in Geography and History, this course complements the panorama of the Ancient World offered by other subjects such as Ancient History and Archaeology, and also provides the student with the foundations of modern European culture.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic year 2014-2015

3.3. Recommendations or Prerequisites

- A liking for reading and literature
- Basic to advanced competence in ICT
- Basic knowledge of Greek and Latin (not compulsory)
- This course will be taught in English: students should have at least a B1 level according to the European Framework of Reference for Languages.
- Class attendance is strongly recommended, for in-class activities will be assessed (see 7. Assessment)

4. COMPETENCES

I. General Competences

- 1) Active learning, showing initiative, entrepreneurship and creativity.
- 2) Autonomous learning.
- 3) Planning and organization skills.

II. Specific Competences

a) Disciplinary Competences

- 4) Knowledge of the different manifestations of Greek and Latin culture.
- 5) Knowledge of the different Greek and Latin roots in western art, culture and thought.
- 6) Critical analysis and comment of Greek and Latin literary texts relating them to their social and cultural environment.

b) Professional Competences

- 7) Responsible management of information and communication through the use of the new technologies.
- 8) Analysis, explanation, synthesis and organization of a presentation combining synthesis and explanatory development.
- 9) Dissemination of knowledge gained in a rigorous and ordered way, using to this aim personal resources and the ICT related to the Human Sciences.
- 10) Correct oral and written communication in Spanish, making use of high level expressive resources and mastering academic and scientific registers.
- 11) Promotion of humanistic essay and precise application of critical terminology related to the subject.
- 12) Oral and written public defence of theses or own points of view, applying acquired knowledge and valuing dialogue and the free expression of ideas in order to enrich, clarify and test one's own viewpoint.

c) Academic Competences

- 13) Scientific curiosity through the consolidation of knowledge.
- 14) Quality and rigour in the presentation of results.
- 15) Study and training with a high sense of responsibility towards one's own effort.
- 16) Ethics and avoidance of all kinds of personal or intellectual malpractice.

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic year 2014-2015

5. COURSE CONTENT (COURSE TOPICS)

A. Introduction: Greek and Latin Language, Literature, and Culture.

B. Myth and Legend

1. Definition and concept
2. Cosmogony: The mythical origin of the World
3. Greek gods. Olympian gods. Other divinities
4. The mythical origin of the human race
5. Myths of progress and decay
 - 5.1. The myths of the Ages. The Golden Age
 - 5.2. Prometheus. Pandora
6. The heroes
 - 6.1. The Myth of the birth of the hero
 - 6.2. Legendary Cycles
 - 6.2.1. Jason and the Argonauts
 - 6.2.2. The Trojan Cycle (Achilles, Ulysses, Aeneas)
 - 6.2.3. The Theban Cycle (Oedypus and his wretched family)

C. Women and men

7. Birth, childhood, education.
8. The importance of the spoken word
9. Adult life, old age, death and afterlife. The carpe diem motif
10. Being a woman in Antiquity
11. Leisure and entertainment
12. The world of feelings

6. METHODOLOGY AND RESOURCES

This course will be taught through a wide range of teaching methods, mainly based on CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning). Both in the lectures and the seminars an active involvement of the students will be necessary, because most of the learning process will be based on a variety of group activities including all the basic skills in English (reading, listening, speaking and writing). Students should be willing to take part in in-class group activities. Part of the lessons will be based on the compulsory readings, which the students must read in advance, but also on films, documentaries, images, Internet resources, etc. If possible, there may be a day-trip to an archaeological site at the end of the semester.

7. ASSESSMENT

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic year 2014-2015

Group and individual In-class activities (portfolio): 30%
Compulsory readings: 30% (Odyssey 20%, Sophocles 5%, Apuleius 5%)
Presentation: 10%
Exams: 30%

*For the re-sit June/July exam a list of activities to be included into the portfolio will be published in Blackboard. Students who want to be assessed in June have to contact the lecture to prepare the presentation prior to the exam.

8. BIBLIOGRAPHY

Compulsory readings:

Homer: The Odyssey
Sophocles: Oedypus Rex
Apuleius: The tale of Cupid and Psyche

*More texts to be dealt with in class will be uploaded to the WebCT.

Basic bibliography:

Braund, S., et al. (eds.), The Cambridge Dictionary of Classical Civilization, Cambridge: 2006.
Hornblower, S.- A. Spawforth (eds.) The Oxford Classical Dictionary, Fourth edition, Oxford: 2012.

*More specific bibliography will be given in class.